ACTIVITY DESCRIPTION

This one-day meeting is designed to provide basic information about pediatric eye disease and eye care to a diverse group of pediatric health care providers. Included in our target audience are pediatricians, pediatric nurse practitioners and school nurses.

It's time to celebrate! The American College of Surgeons has verified the UC Davis Children's Hospital as a level I Children's Surgery Center. We are the fourth such center designated in the United States and the only one on the West Coast! To honor this achievement and highlight our excellent teaching staff, this year's meeting will include lectures on "extraorbital" topics that relate to eye care:

- Orbital complications of sinusitis in children
- Pediatric anesthesia
- Fetal surgery

Our eye faculty will continue the discussion with lectures on:

- Strabismus and strabismus surgery
- Referral recommendations for pediatric eye problems
- Headaches in children
- Ocular genetics
- The impact of vision disorders on learning

EDUCATIONAL OBJECTIVES

At the end of the program, participants should be able to:

- Explain the current advances in fetal surgery
- Define amblyopia, describe predisposing risk factors, and explain how to effectively screen for amblyopia
- List common and uncommon children's eye problems and referral criteria
- Discuss the impact of visual disorders on learning
- Discuss current recommendations for treatment of sinusitis in children
- Recognize and list current recommendations for diagnosis and treatment of headaches in children
- Explain advances in vision screening technology
- Discuss current data regarding the risks of pediatric anesthesia
