CALL FOR APPLICATIONS
Application deadline: March 28, 2019

The Interprofessional Teaching Scholars Program (ITSP) is an innovative interprofessional faculty development program that promotes the development of educational scholars, change agents and leaders at UC Davis. Each Scholar will develop an educational scholarly project during the first year (2019-2020), and will complete the project with continued mentoring in the second year (2020-21). Each scholar will be provided with $250 for project support.

Program Delivery
During the first year, the program entails approximately 30 in-person, 3-hour seminars held on Thursday afternoons between October and June. A commitment of approximately 5 hours for each of these sessions is required. During the second year, the time commitment is much different, as scholars will complete their scholarly project with continued mentorship from the program. This will entail periodic (e.g. every 1-3 months) check-in meetings and presentation of the project at the end of the year.

Topics Include
- Learner-Centered Education
- Interprofessional Education Strategies
- Curriculum Development
- Program Evaluation
- Educational Scholarship and Research
- Promoting Inclusion, Diversity & Equity in Health Professions Education
- Educational Technology
- Clinical Education Strategies
- Providing Effective Feedback and Learner Evaluation
- Educational Leadership and Career Development

Who can apply?
UC Davis faculty from all health-related disciplines and academic series are encouraged to apply.

For more information and application details, visit our website at: health.edu/facultydev/teaching-scholars