I. POLICY

Appointees in the Volunteer Clinical Professor series are clinicians in the community who teach the application of clinical and basic sciences in areas of patient care. These appointments constitute a valuable way to utilize the interest and expertise of practitioners from the community on a part-time, unsalaried, voluntary basis in the areas of teaching, patient care, and clinical research.

An individual who is employed by the University as a staff physician or clinician with teaching responsibilities may hold a concurrent appointment in the Volunteer Clinical Professor series.

Or an individual with teaching, scholarly or creative activity, and service responsibilities who holds a clinical appointment paid by a facility that has a formal affiliation with the University (UC-affiliated facility).

II. GENERAL COMMENTS

Appointees in the Clinical Professor, Volunteer Series must contribute significantly to the programs of the School of Medicine and their appointments should reflect service to the University. These appointments are not to be used for political or honorary purposes. In like manner, reappointments and promotions should reflect continued University service. Appointees in this series must participate in teaching. In addition, appointees may also participate in research, committees, training, or faculty development activities.

An individual may be identified for consideration for appointment in this series through one of the following paths:

- Department recruitment to fulfill their specific teaching and service needs;
- Vice Dean of Education and/or Office of Medical Education recruitment to fulfill multi-disciplinary teaching needs which are not department-based;
- The Associate Vice Chancellor; Assistant Dean for Diversity and Faculty Development, or other school leaders may identify suitable individuals through outreach efforts;
- An individual in the community may approach a department or the Dean's office

Based on the information from the application, an individual may be assigned to multi-disciplinary non-department-based teaching programs in OME, or forwarded to departments or other units to determine if the applicant is a fit for other teaching programs. A department affiliation must be identified for each applicant.

For applicants and appointees who participate chiefly in department-based teaching, the department is responsible for compiling the VCP appointment, reappointment, and promotion recommendation, as well as assessing the activity of the appointee on an annual basis to ensure that quality and quantity meet the standards and criteria outlined herein.

At the time of the initial appointment, the Department Chair must specify the needs of the department and how the appointee will be expected to meet those needs. Departments may choose to have all department faculty review the proposed appointment, or appoint a separate VCP review committee to make the recommendation to the Department Chair. The opinions of the faculty in the department (or division) regarding the proposed action should be reported in the dossier.

For applicants and appointees who participate chiefly in multi-disciplinary non-department-based teaching programs, the OME will be responsible for processing their VCP appointment, reappointment, and promotion recommendations, as well as assessing the activity of the appointee on an annual basis to ensure that quality and quantity meet the standards and criteria outlined herein. At the time of the initial appointment, the Vice Chair of Medical Education or his designee must specify the needs of the program and how the appointee will be expected to meet those needs. The faculty in the home department (or division) should be consulted regarding the proposed action and this should be reported in the dossier.

Joint appointments in the VCP series may be made with basic science departments and administered by the same guidelines that apply to clinical departments. Any advancement must be recommended by both departments at the same time. An individual may not hold a volunteer appointment at different ranks in different departments at the same time; the promotions must be coordinated.

Appointees in this series shall be bound by the same policies and procedures that govern professional conduct for those in the regular academic ranks.

III. TERMS OF SERVICE AND CONDITIONS OF EMPLOYMENT

Initial appointment at any rank is for a period of up to five (5) years and must have an end date. Subsequent reappointments are for a period of up to five (5) years and must have an end date. Regardless of start date, appointments will have a fiscal year end date of 6/30/XX.

The title Clinical Instructor, Volunteer Series will be used for individuals who work 20-49 hours per year. Individuals at this level are never eligible for promotion unless their work hours are increased to 50 hours or more per year by agreement of the department and the individual.

The title Assistant Clinical Professor, Associate Clinical Professor and Clinical Professor, Volunteer Series will be used for those individuals who contribute 50 hours or more per year of documented teaching or other activities as defined in Part II (General Comments).

The Dean or designee shall give the appointee 30 (thirty) consecutive days prior written notice with a statement of the reason for the termination.
