

UC Davis Human Genomics Forum

SUBMIT SCIENTIFIC ABSTRACTS NOW!

SUBMIT SCIENTIFIC ABSTRACTS NOW

larry.jacinth@ucdmc.ucdavis.edu

Share your research, education, technology and clinical efforts at this Inaugural Forum by submitting a scientific abstract. Everyone is welcome to submit abstracts and attend, including UC Davis partners.

Plan on attending the Human Genomics Forum, November 14, 2014. Poster presentations, keynote speakers and podium talks will help connect the greater university community and advance our work.

The emerging field of human genomics is dynamic, and is also evolving quickly at UC Davis. By connecting with one another across disciplines and practices we will be better prepared to navigate through the changing environment.

This forum is made possible by a university-wide group. Dr. Kate Rauen from the Department of Pediatrics and Dr. Frederick J. Meyers, Vice Dean, School of Medicine, are launching the forum to advance discoveries and share resources.

Inaugural UC Davis
Human Genomics Forum

Friday, November 14, 2014

10:00 a.m. – 4:00 p.m.

Education Building
Room 2222
4610 X Street
Sacramento, CA 95817

Abstracts for podium and/or poster sessions
due September 22, 2014.

CME Credit Available

*AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™ are acceptable for interprofessional team members, including physicians, nurses,
physician assistants,
dietitians, veterinarians and pharmacists.*

UCDAVIS
HEALTH SYSTEM