Peter Goldberg, PhD

Peter Goldberg, Ph.D. is a Personal and Supervising Analyst at the Psychoanalytic Institute of Northern California, is Chair of Faculty at the San Francisco Center for Psychoanalysis, and on the faculty with the Wright Institute in Berkeley.

He has presented widely and written on a range of clinical and theoretical topics, including evolution of clinical theory in psychoanalysis; sensory experience in analysis; the concept of the analytic frame; the theory and treatment of dissociative states; non-representational states; and the impact of social trauma on individual psychology.

How We Practice Today: Change and Evolution in the Great Tradition of Talk Therapy

This presentation will highlight the considerable evolution that has taken place in contemporary analytically-oriented psychotherapy, as accessibly as possible, while at the same time outlining substantial (and very important) developments in intensive psychotherapy practice.