

What Transgender Community Members Want Physicians to Know about Trans* Health

Swati Rao, MD

Friday, February 22nd, 2019

11:30 a.m.—12:30 p.m.

Location: PSSB Auditorium, Room G300

Address: 4150 V Street
Sacramento, CA 95817

For more information, please contact Hillary Brown at 916-734-2614 or habrown@ucdavis.edu

Course Objectives:

1. Review health inequities experienced by transgender people
2. Examine gaps in medical education that contribute to health inequities
3. Explore possibilities for new curriculum content on transgender health in medical education

February
22nd

Swati Rao, MD
UC Davis

Swati Rao, MD completed her Bachelor's of Arts in Cultural and Social Anthropology with a focus in Medical Anthropology at Stanford University. She attended medical school at UC San Diego and completed her residency in combined Family Medicine/Psychiatry at UC Davis. She currently works at UC Davis in the Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences where she practices psychiatry and family medicine for underserved populations through Sacramento County. She and her wife (a family practitioner) have helped run a free transgender hormone clinic through the Gender Health Center since 2012 and work to increase transgender cultural and medical competency among providers in the Northern California region.