

Micaela Godzich, M.D., M.S.

Philosophy of Care

I believe that my patients are the experts when it comes to themselves and that I am here to help them achieve to achieve their fullest potential with my medical expertise. This partnership is most effective when it is rooted in trust and effective communication. I enjoy longitudinal relationships with my patients where I have the opportunity to support them in attaining their goals and living fulfilling and healthy lives.

Clinical Interests

Dr Godzich is a full spectrum Family Medicine physician who provides medical care in outpatient, inpatient, and obstetric settings and is committed to delivering excellent clinical care to all throughout their lifespan. She has a special interest in working in community settings and under-resourced environments with a focus on patients who have historically received subpar care. She has years of clinical experience in rural communities and has consistently provided care to underserved patients throughout her career.

Research/Academic Interests

Dr Godzich's academic interests are anchored in education and she is committed to training the next generation of physicians to deliver exceptional clinical care through the integration of social determinants of health. She values participating in the development of a healthcare workforce that is as diverse as the population it serves and she has a particular interest in the support of trainees who are underrepresented in medicine. Her work with resident physicians and medical students focuses on supporting adult learners in the identification of their passions, skills, and areas of growth through active mentoring and coaching.
